

Heart Mason Jar LED tealight candle holders

You will need:

- An empty Plastic jar or glass if you don't have plastic.
- Small sized heart template.
- A pair of child friendly scissors.
- Blue tack.
- Red poster paint (or acrylic paint or spray paint if you want it to be permanent).
- Glitter (optional).
- Art smock.
- Paint brush.
- LED tea light candle.
- Ribbon to tie around the lid of the jar

Step 1:

Print out the small sized heart template onto paper. If you do not have a printer, you can place a piece of paper over your computer screen and trace around the heart template twice so that you have two small heart shapes. Then cut out around the small heart shapes. You may need an adult to help you to cut the hearts out.

Step 2:

Once you have cut out the two small heart shapes, stick one on either side of the jar towards the middle using blue tack.

Step 3:

Put an art smock on, and then paint the jar using poster paint in the colour of your choice. We've used red, but you can use, pink, white or whatever colour you choose. If you don't have poster paint you can also use acrylic paint, or even spray paint, for a more even finish, but be careful not to get this on your clothing. You may need more than one coat of paint, depending on whether you want a more translucent look or whether you want the entire bottle to be covered. It doesn't matter if you get the paint on the heart template, as long as it doesn't get underneath. Leave this to dry for several hours.

Step 4:

Once the paint has dried completely, gently peel back the paper heart template from the jar. You should be able to see a heart shape where your light will shine through.

Step 5:

Place the LED tea light candle inside the jar so that you can see it shining through the heart. To keep it in place, stick a piece of blue tack on the base of the LED tea light candle and then gently push this down into the jar. Do not glue the LED tea light candle inside the jar as you will not be able to replace its battery when it runs out.

Step 6:

To finish, tie a ribbon around the lid of the jar to decorate in the colour of your choice.
